A BIT OF HISTORY.

The first buck and wing dancing ever seen on the stage in the Northern States was done by McIntyre and Heath in 1878 at Tony Pastor's Theater. New York. It was a considerable change from the fig. clog and reel dancing hitherto shown by such old minstrel men as Bridge. Wambeld, Bernard, and Billy Bakus, and in London in the state of the state at once met with great favor. Some of the quaint steps shown in John Cort's substrate revival of "The Ham Tree," in the same place. The open-which these comedians will appear at the Belasco Theater here early in October exactly like those they first offered in the North nearly forty years ago.

MRS. FISKE'S PLAY.

One of the offerings of the season.

The tiffe decided upon for Mrs. Fiske's new comedy of London life in 1759, by John Luther Long and Frank Stayton, is "Lady Betty Martingale; or. The Adventures of a Lively Hussy."
